California law requires that children ride in the back seat, properly secured in a safety seat or booster, until they are at least age 8. Children under 2 years old (unless 40 lbs. or 40 inches or more) must ride facing the rear of the vehicle. Children 8-15 must ride properly buckled up in a safety seat, booster, or safety belt. Most children need a booster until age 10-12 for proper belt fit. It is illegal to sell a safety seat or booster that was in use during a crash. Auto insurance companies are required to cover the cost of replacement of a seat that was in use during a crash.
